We are seeking enthusiastic, conservation-minded people to devote a year of service to protect natural resources in the Sierra!

Responsibilities & projects include watershed restoration & assessment, environmental education & outreach, and volunteer recruitment & support. Members spend their time monitoring stream flow, removing invasive species, building trails, leading field trips, organizing volunteer days, teaching science classes, attending GIS classes, and a wide variety of other activities. A living allowance, loan forbearance, and health care benefits are provided during the service term, as well as an end of service education award.
