

Science of Beer

Charlie Bamforth is Distinguished Professor at UC Davis, specializing in beer and brewing. He has been part of the brewing industry for nearly 40 years and is one of its most globally acclaimed scientists. He is in huge demand as a speaker, both within the world of brewing but also outside, and has appeared in venues as diverse as the Smithsonian Institute, BBC, Google, and National Public Radio. He was the star of an award-winning documentary "The Art and Science of Beer" and appeared in the Discovery Channel special "How Beer Saved the World." He was chosen as one of the top 20 professors changing the classroom in Playboy magazine. Join Dr. Bamforth for a lively talk and special beer tasting in partnership with Alibi Ale Works.
